Our "new" building is now three years old. It is beginning to have a "lived-in" look.
The grass is firmer, the trees are spreading, the shrubs are bravely stretching upward.
We have won and we have lost in the gymnasium. We have danced and sung;
we have found books for our minds and tools for our hands.
This building has become a part of us.

PAUL V. WEBSTER

Seldom does a school the size of Bryan High have a teacher who has both national prominence and the complete respect and admiration of the students. Mr. Webster, who has been teaching in Bryan for ten years, has the distinction of being president of the National Association of Biology Teachers. Students are drawn to him by his welcoming smile, by the profusion of plants and animals in his room, and by his personal interest in helping each of us not only to learn but to appreciate the wonders of life. Therefore to him we affectionately dedicate our 1961 Zeta Cordia.

Through the microscope
we get a closer look at things not easily seen . . .
The tiny, important amoeba,
the scales of fish,
the cells of human blood . . .
The closer look reveals a plan that makes each thing a part of every other thing . . .
Here, in these pages
we take a closer look at ourselves —
to see us as we really are:
eager, hopeful, searching . . .
Each one a microscopic part of this great universe.

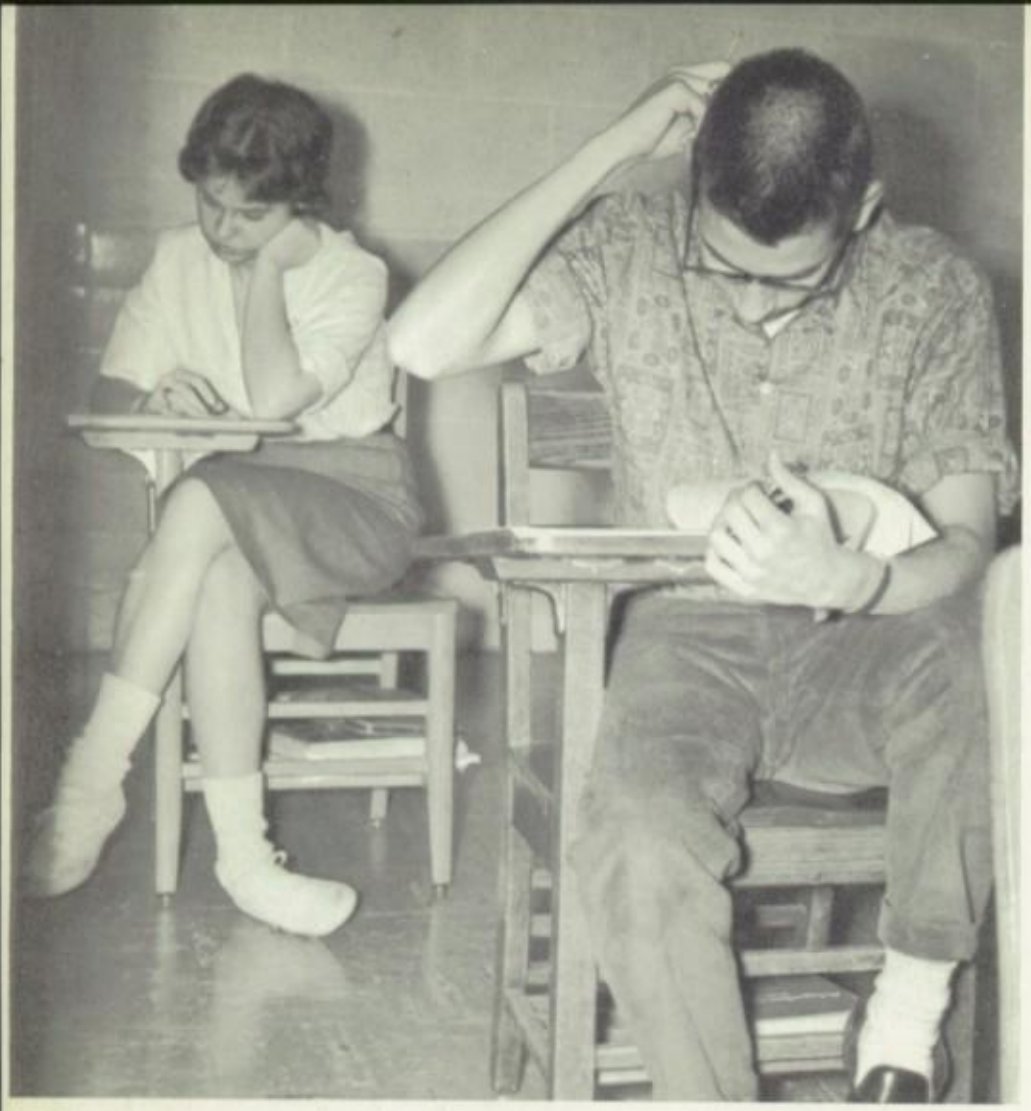
BELOW: HOMECOMING GETS OFF TO A ROARING START as George Marshall pilots the cheerleading squad, Surewin, and the Model T.

ABOVE: "BOOKS IN THE RUNNING BROOKS" are texts for Don Galliers and Charles Swabb on the annual biology field trip.

Here Comes B.H.S.

From the gaiety of the Kick-Off dance to the "Pomp and Circumstance" of graduation, our school days seem filled with busy-ness — exciting activities and good, hard work. A "closer look" at our student life, however, shows us that almost every day we have decisions to make. We decide on courses, class rings, officers, friends, Honor Girl, Homecoming Queens, senior robes, a theme for Junior-Senior, ways to raise money . . . and day by day, whether to spend our time on this or that. The decisions we make in these four years add up to an important total.



Each Day Brings

Help in making our own decisions is one of the most important things our school does for us. We select the courses we need, and we are given a preview of the courses before we register. Vocational preference tests help us understand ourselves, and a wealth of books in our library inform us on occupations and further education. Frequently we may talk with visiting representatives of colleges or State Employment officials. Our decisions are our own, but help is at hand.

What Courses?

REQUIRED FOR GRADUATION

English 1, English 2, English 3	3 Units
U.S. History, American Government	2 Units
Mathematics	1 Unit
Science	1 Unit
Elective Subjects	9 Units

What Answer?

Bryan's guidance helps the student to help himself. Each selects a faculty adviser in whom he can confide. In Wednesday guidance periods we discuss appropriate topics with occasional assemblies varying from a religious film to a Student Council open meeting. On Career Day, March 15, everyone learned of two occupations of his choice. Thirty-two speakers from the professions, industry and skilled trades discussed their work and advised interested students. Throughout the year we received counseling when we desired it, thus maturing by our own initiative.

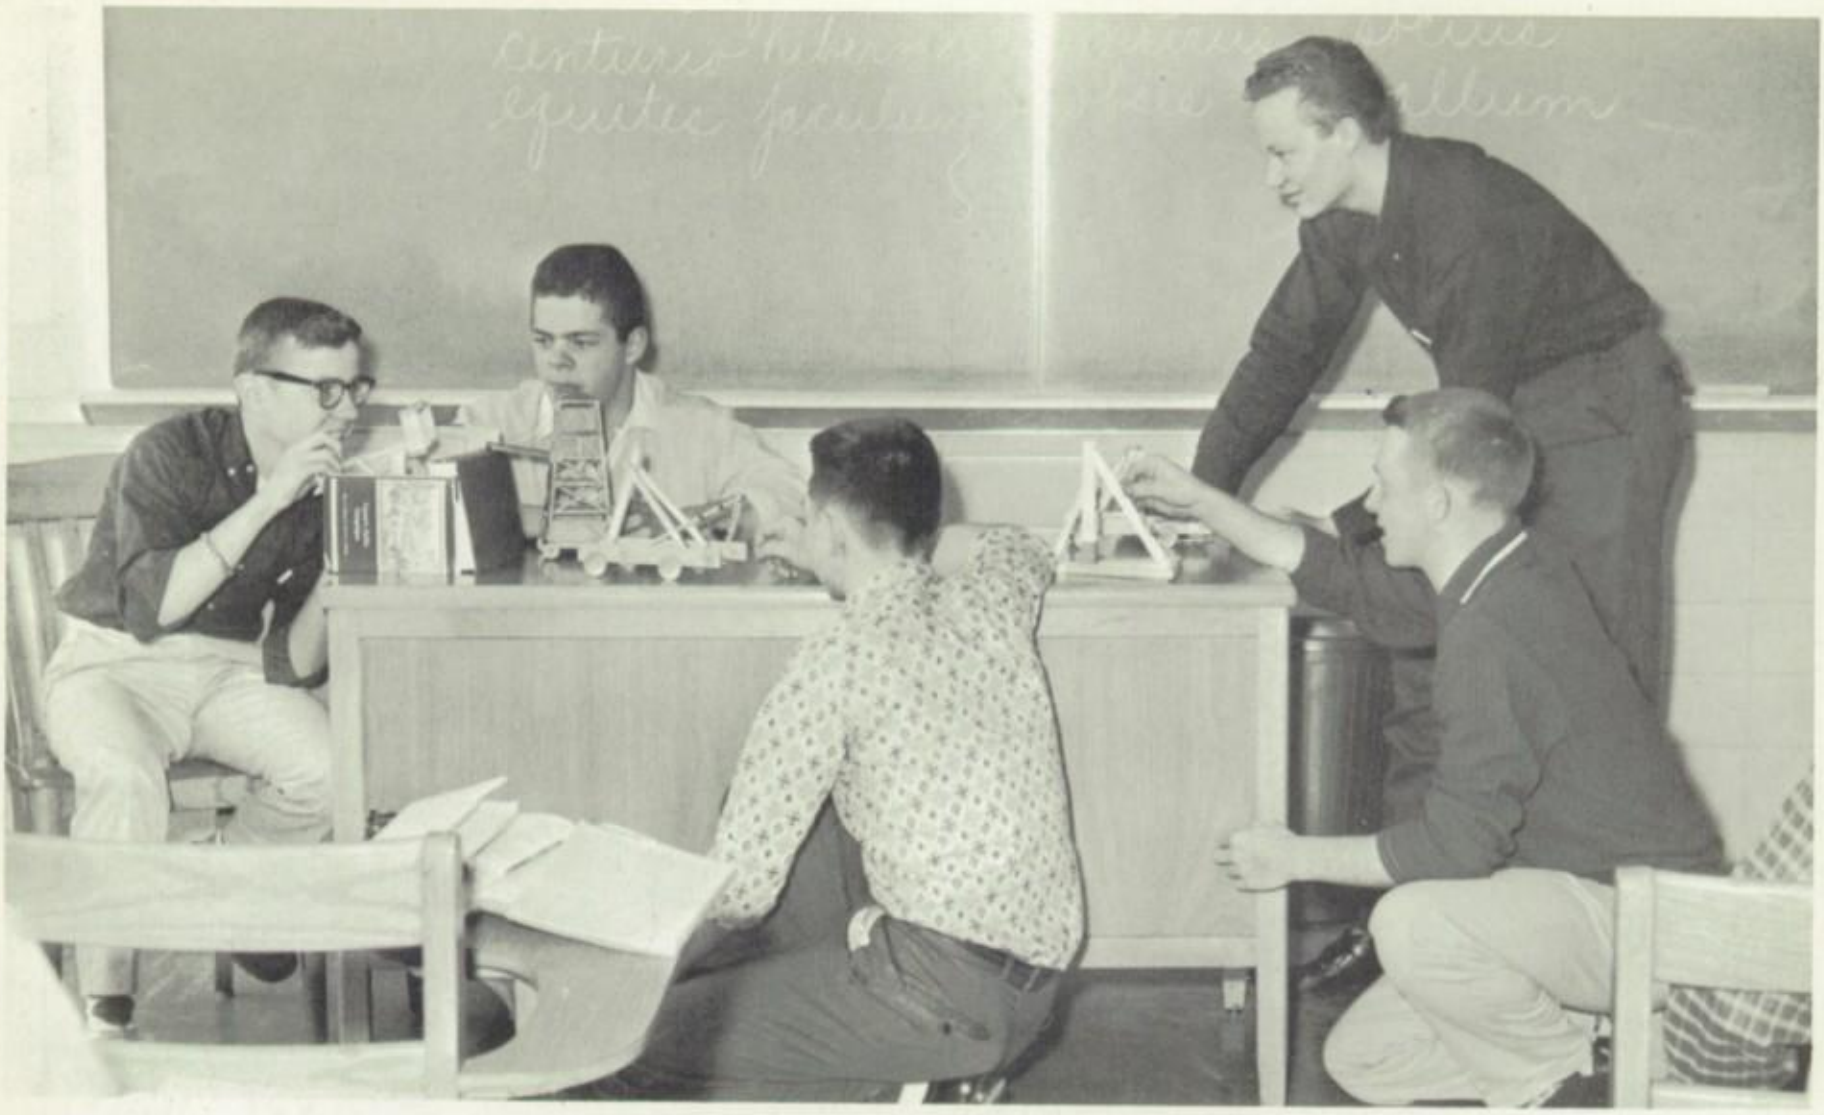
What College?

UPPER LEFT: EXAMS AGAIN! Cathy Hays, Greg Vitale. ABOVE: WHICH COLLEGE WILL BE LUCKY? Barbara Bard, Bill Urfer and Linda Johnston look the situation over. LEFT: ON THE AIR. Reporting on their guidance period discussion are Margaret Borr, JoNell Walker and Bill Spragg with Mr. Newell as M.C.

Choices to Make.

Fun — Friends — Activities

FOR OUR AFTER-SCHOOL HOURS we choose activities we like best — sports, skills, and that special "togetherness" that makes life fun.



Language Skills Are Fundamental

Occupying at least one-sixth of our school day, language arts are vital to our academic skills. New texts, the ADVENTURES IN LITERATURE series, brought more of the standard authors and classics into our courses. Approximately half of the seniors studied the college prep English IV, while fifty-two upperclassmen gained theory and practice in speech and journalism. Latin attracted 178 students, sixteen of whom studied Latin IV, alternating yearly with Latin III. Spanish students vitalized study with newspapers, tape recordings, and correspondence.

Social Studies

From the battles of ancient Greece to the threat of atomic war, the sixty-one sophomores studying world history gained a background for further understanding.

Juniors in U.S. history applied the past to the present sparking interest with panel discussions. They prepared a map display to commemorate the hundredth anniversary of the beginning of the Civil War.

Reflecting a keen interest in the subject, ninty-one seniors enrolled in psychology and sociology. They experimented with the effects of music on study, and tape recorded their panel discussions on such topics as family living and individual reactions to crises.

American government and economics, required of all seniors, prepared students for their role as adult citizens. They met and talked with government officials, diagramed the Court House, visited voting precincts, and studied income tax problems. A new film strip viewer was provided this year for individual use.

FIELD TRIPS

Not all education can be found in the classroom. Commercial students profited from visiting the Common Pleas Court, Sears Roebuck, and the Lincoln Life Insurance Company. The Chicago Museum of Science and Industry, the Toledo Zoo and the conservation farm interested biology students, while both home economics and sociology students surveyed local stores. Psychology classes spent a day at Lima State Hospital, and the Bryan elementary schools were visited by students from the home economics and speech classes.

Science Activities Are Expanding

Science is taken seriously at BHS. Though only one year is required, most freshmen and sophomores study both general science and biology. About half the juniors go on with chemistry, and one class continues with physics. The high school courses are coordinated with junior high, and the entire group combined to produce the largest Science Fair in BHS history March 9—11. Almost 300 entries were judged, many of which were to go on to other fairs. Throughout the year, visiting scientists provided by the Ohio Academy of Science were available for counseling and lectures. At the 1960 State Science Fair, Bryan won a placque awarded by the Academy for having 100 percent of its entries earn superior ratings. Bryan was one of three to receive this honor.

Field trips, visual aids, and up-to-date equipment help our students learn the practical side of science as well as the theoretical.

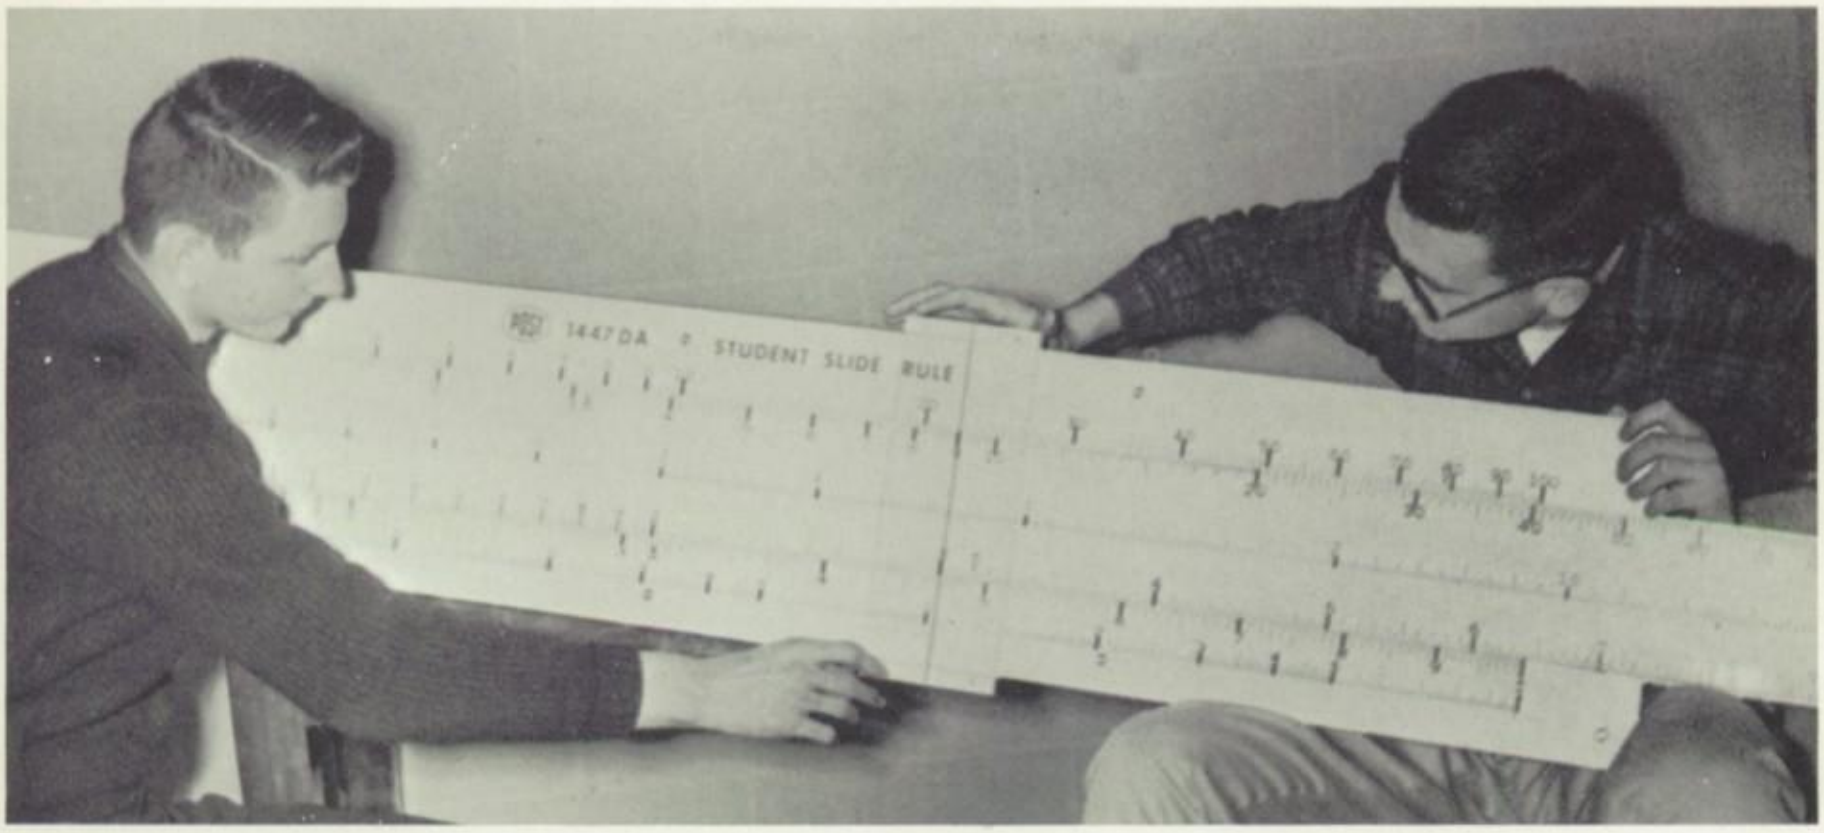
Math Is Basic for Technology



THINK BIG! Bob Borckardt and Richard Rutz show that senior math is no "small" subject.

Basic to modern technological education is the study of mathematics, one year of which is required.

Many freshmen elected first-year algebra, with its mysterious "x," while others chose general math. The strange shapes of geometry intrigued three classes of sophomores, while the juniors plunged into more complicated equations, story problems, the binary system of numbers, imaginary numbers, permutations, and combinations. The thirty-five enrolled in Mathematics IV studied solid geometry and trigonometry, including identities and an introduction to calculus.

Advanced students may look forward to attending the Summer Science Training Program at Western Michigan University.

Bryan's well-equipped shop department prepares boys for a variety of jobs in industry. Majoring in industrial arts makes a student familiar with mechanical drawing, including technical illustration, welding, cabinet work, metal work and machine-shop practice. This year a course in automotive mechanics was available to seniors. The graphic arts department provides the school with printing service for programs, tickets and signs. Shop students in recent years have consistently won honors for B.H.S.

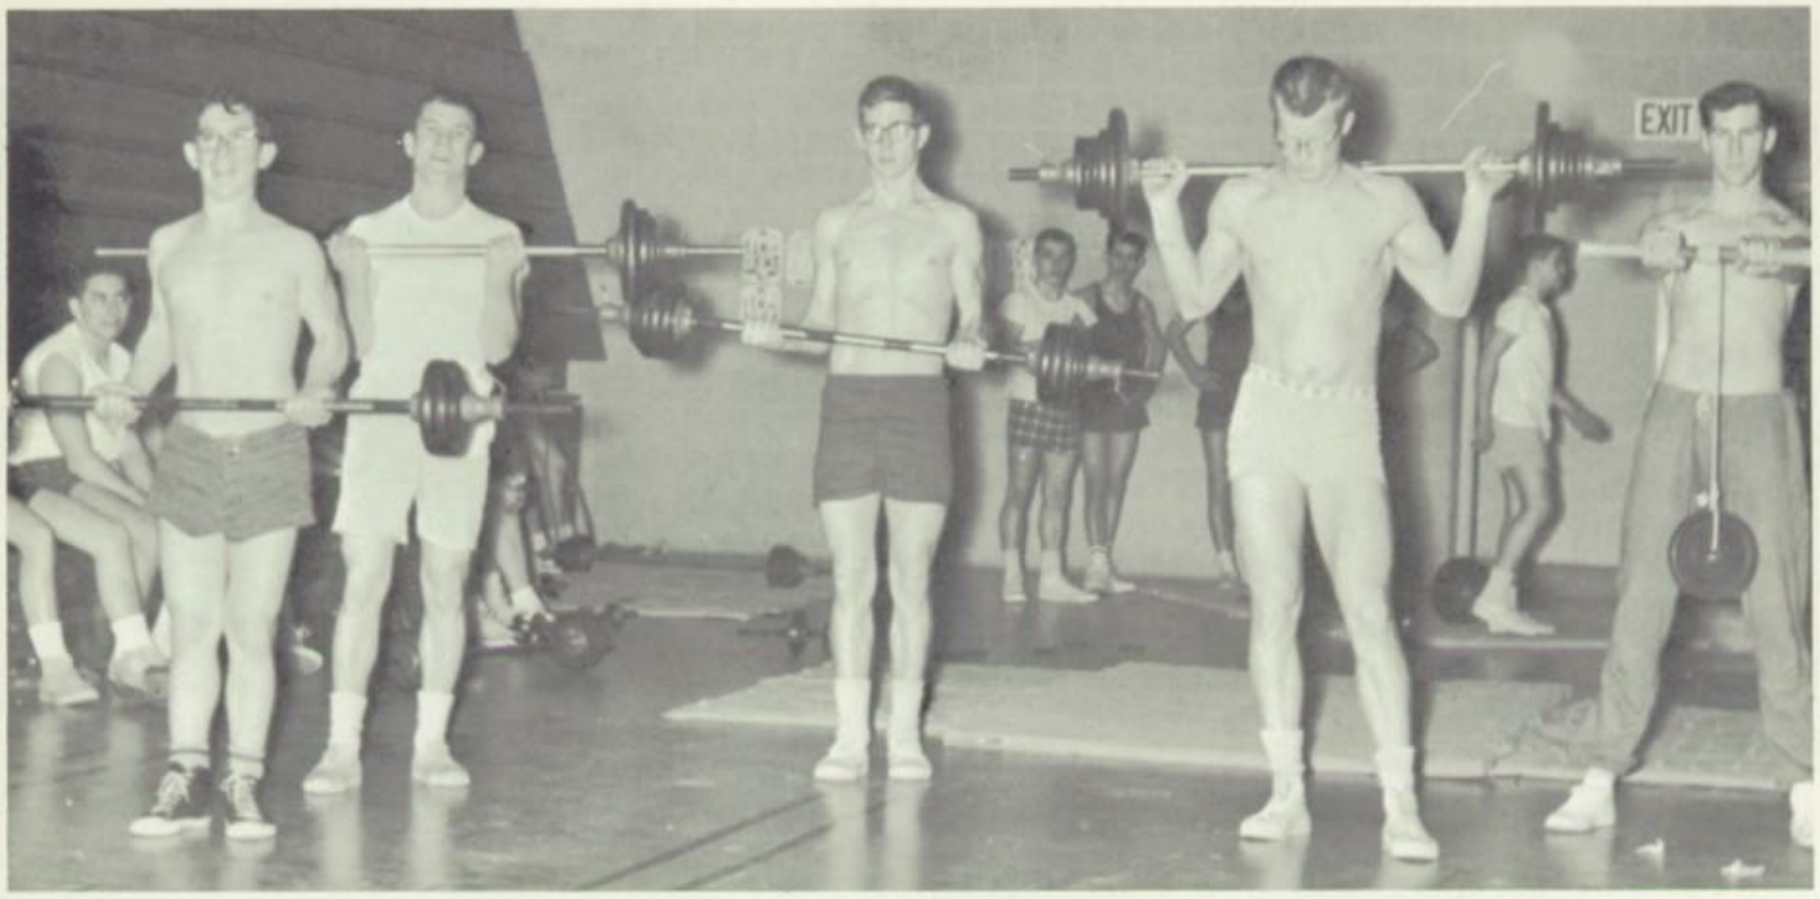
Home and Office Require Training

ABOVE: "ONCE UPON A TIME" weaves the familiar magic spell as Dixie Calvin entertains kindergarten children. BELOW: SWINGIN' TYPEWRITERS beat out the rhythm as the record spins, with resulting precision of touch.

If variety gives spice, the study of homemaking in our beautiful kitchen, complete with new dinette sets, the classroom and sewing room with two new machines should delight everyone. Four years of Vocational Home Economics are offered, with about sixty girls enrolled. Classes studied foods from farm to frying pan, clothing, family life, mental health, personal grooming, management of time and money, baby sitting and child care. The girls staged a style show for an assembly and visited kindergarten to gain experience with young children. In March Mrs. Shockley resigned and her work was continued by Mrs. George Mellott.

Our busy commercial deparment reaches almost half of our students. Since typing is a "must" in modern life, more than a hundred learn keyboard technique each year, some continuing into a second year of advanced work. This year a demonstration stand proved helpful, and rhythmic records made routine practice more interesting.

Upperclassmen studied business English, law and mathematics, bookkeeping, shorthand and office practice. Advanced students worked with a dictaphone and new Monroe educator models of calculating machines. Increasing coverage of filing procedures was part of this year's work. The department supplied secretarial service to each teacher, and did all of the typing of grade cards and envelopes.



Life Demands Fitness and Skill

Health and physical education classes included all students, meeting three times weekly. A set of weights added this year put emphasis on muscle building. Approximately sixty students learned to drive at the wheel of a '61 Pontiac. Sixteen boys majored in Vocational Agriculture, doing extensive farm shop projects. The fine arts in our curriculum included our top-ranking musical organizations (pages 95—106) and one hundred fifty enrolled in junior and senior high art. An enameling kiln was purchased this year for the department, where students turned out a succession of beautiful products from design to sculpture.

After twelve years together, the seniors of 1961 emerged as a group of young people interested in the practical affairs of life. Strong interests in business, industrial arts, and homemaking prevailed, with many outstanding individual achievements in music, dramatics, and athletics to their credit. Facing a world situation of extreme political upheaval, approximately half the class set about entering college and other institutions of higher learning.

Surviving the usual attack of "Senioritis," the graduates found June second a climax of the traditional activities. The final exams given early, the Senior picnic at Pokagon, the farewell luncheon in the cafeteria, the careful pressing of blue and white robes — all contributed to a feeling of finality as Mr. Spletzer awarded diplomas.

During the year, several seniors found other interests outside school causing them to discontinue their education. The students listed here are those enrolled in B.H.S. as of January 1, 1961. The class of 1961 has been a close knit group in many enjoyable and successful activities.

SEVENTEEN

It's wonderful to be seventeen. They tell you it's the best year of the four golden years of high school. It's the year you have all those Senior privileges, like running into class as the tardy bell rings, spending your noons in the meeting room, visiting a college for the first time and enjoying your Junior-Senior without any work.

You wear loafers or saddle shoes, white wool socks, the shortest knee ticklers to school and black sheaths to dances, the biggest sweat shirts, lots of bracelets, tie clasps, blue jeans whenever possible, corduroy suits and madras (shirts, dresses, sport coats), Old Spice and Intimate.

You are called down to the office more than anyone else. You are on the announcements, first in the cafeteria line, best in the noon intramurals, and loudest in study halls. You have the messiest locker, and you are always right. You are often questioned on important matters, such as who is going steady with whom, what teachers are easy, and what to wear to the Christmas Dance.

You have the least money, fastest car, dirtiest shoes, worst grades, most backward parents, oddest brothers and sisters, one beaten-up Kingston Trio record, name cards from every one in your class, Senior pictures, and five Zeta Cordias so far.

You will have your last finals, the Senior picnic, a cap and gown, and your first summer as a high school graduate. Then you're on your own and probably eighteen.

This article, by Nancy Thomas, appeared in the January 27, 1961 issue of Hi-Life.

Juniors

They did it again! Juniors took charge of the home-coming dance, selling "mums" and giving Queen Wendy and her court a truly gala evening. With the goal of raising sixteen hundred to two thousand dollars to meet the expense of the next two years, they again sold Christmas cards, plus stationery and new plastic fifty-star flags. Home room competition stepped up sales, and profits from concessions and dances helped to finance the big splurge — the Junior-Senior banquet and dance — a night to remember. These efforts cemented friendships and unified the Juniors as they passed the half-way mark in their school years. Individually they pursued their major fields of education and began to carry more responsibility for school activities.

FIFTY OF THE FINEST — the starry new flag helps boost sales for Joyce Nicholls, Anita Pence, and Greg Vitale.

Sophomores

Sophomores this year were lively and ambitious. They added Hi-Y, Y-Teens and Mask and Sandal to their club activities, and began to show leadership and service to the school. A bake sale and an after-game dance were among their class projects. They also helped to put a spark in the greatly improved school spirit of the past year by having a large representation cheering loudly at the games.

Having completed their first full year of being "in the swing of things," they can now look forward to setting their goals for next year, aiming, perhaps, at National Honor Society, wearing with pride their new class rings, and carrying heavier responsibilities in the school's activities.

GOODIES ARE IN THE BAG in nothing flat at the Sophomore bake-sale. Harold Bostater, Rita Rohrs and Patti Frappier serve the customers.

LIKE BEES TO HONEY, FRESHMEN FLOCK TO THE CANDY STAND. John Stockwell, president; Francie Allen, secretary; Jane Ames, treasurer; Mike Phillips, vice-president.

Freshmen

The wonderful world of high school found Bryan freshmen eager to explore. An almost-new building, with its maze of shiny corridors, unfamiliar teachers, and throngs of older students, confronted them with more to learn than just lessons. They began their social life by being the honored guests at the Kick-Off dance and attending after-game dances. They cheered at games and pep rallies, played in the band, or tried out for the varsity teams. Although some clubs are not open to freshmen, many joined FTA, FFA, FHA, GAA, Latin Club or Spanish Club. Emphasis throughout the year was on academic work, but each freshman learned that he is an active member of the student body, contributing to the welfare and spirit of the school.

Readers' Round-up

From the moment Bette Rogers opens the library desk until Vicki Flowers closes it, the library teems with activity. Dozens of books go off the shelves while others come back to roost. Encyclopedias, dictionaries, newspapers, magazines, pamphlets and filmstrips shift from hand to hand. Pink slips flutter in and out of the door, catalog cards are thumbed, fine money clinks into the drawer, another desk-pen goes dry, a new display appears, and student librarians make countless trips to the magazine files. New books in bright jackets rub covers with grimy rebounds, and somehow, through a sort of literary osmosis, the contents of books become the contents of minds.

ADMINISTRATION

Our Men of Destiny

Concluding his eighteenth year with us, Superintendent Howard Rogge can look with pride on the result of his administration. At present our buildings are adequate, our teaching staff well qualified, and our instructional standards constantly being improved. His belief that the school exists for every child has led to the strengthening of our college preparatory courses without neglecting the vocational ones. Mr. Rogge attended Bowling Green, Ohio Northern, and Ohio State Universities, and holds B.S. and M.A. degrees.

Our Board of Education has been primarily concerned with improving instruction. Mr. Donaldson, a member of the Area Committee on Air-Borne TV, was instrumental in bringing this new educational technique to us. However, he was unable to observe its success as he moved to Maumee in mid-winter. His unexpired term was filled by the appointment of another member whose name was not available early enough for inclusion here.

The Board of Education joined the faculty at the fall picnic and attended many special events.

Plans for Good Schools Begin at the Top

JOSEPH S. NEWELL, PRINCIPAL

Center of student affairs, the high school office has at its hub Joseph S. Newell, principal for the past six years. Untiringly dedicated to making our high school experiences valuable to us, he deals with problems of scheduling, guidance, attendance, and, we admit, discipline to help us learn to get along with others and to develop our talents.

Holding B.A. and M.A. degrees from Kalamazoo College and the University of Michigan, Mr. Newell is active in professional organizations. He administers the testing program, which includes the following tests: National Merit Scholarship, Terman-Macnamar, Ohio State Psychological, the Scholarship Qualifying test, and new this year, the American College Testing program (ACT). Since Bryan is one of fourteen schools in three states involved in the Science Motivation Project of the National Science Foundation, sophomores and seniors took the Kuder Preference Test.

Rescheduling of classes to meet the Air-Borne TV program during the second semester, revision of the National Honor Society standards, and overhauling the Student Council Constitution were also among Mr. Newell's special projects for this year.

Focus on Faculty

Behind each member of our B.H.S. faculty lies the wisdom, even temperament, and good humor required to teach the six hundred students who come to them for guidance.

We are proud that every member of the high school faculty has at least one college degree, and we boast a one-hundred-percent membership in the National Education Association.

Many of our faculty have traveled extensively, while others enjoy varied and interesting hobbies. Many carry considerable responsibilities in church and community affairs.

These experiences, plus a desire to aid the students in their quest for knowledge, provide Bryan with an excellent secondary educational institution.

WITH MINDS IN THE CLOUDS, Mr. Johnson, Fred Williams, area co-ordinator for Air-Borne TV, and Mr. Rogge discuss TV teaching.

Social Studies Have Veteran Teachers

PUNCH INSTEAD OF PAPERCLIPS comes from secretary Charlotte Ihrig as she and Mrs. Meyer serve Kenneth and Joan Rollins at tea.

Our Social Studies instructors range in years of experience from Mr. Wagner's thirty to Mr. Rollins' four. In past summers Mr. Wagner, director of Moore Park, has traveled to such interesting places as Alaska. In addition to teaching, he assists the principal with attendance records Mr. Johnson, World Book salesman and treasurer of State F.T.A. Sponsors, taught accelerated reading, built a home and traveled to New York last summer. Mr. Rollins, who previously taught at Delta, spent the summer months painting.

"Language Is the Picture of Thought."

Emphasis on college-preparatory subjects has boosted the enrollment in our foreign language classes. Mr. Patterson, our new Spanish-English teacher, comes from Paulding, Ohio and has spent several years in Washington D.C. as a ghost writer for Franklin D. Roosevelt. He also speaks fluent French and German and enjoys studying history. Miss Max's room, always full of plants and pictures, is a friendly place to discuss problems and talk over school projects. The large number of Latin students is a tribute to her ability as a teacher.

The English department started the year with three new teachers. Mrs. Rollins, who taught here in 1958, has returned to Bryan two years and one baby later, and commutes daily from Edon. Library work and trips with the annual staff and Mask and Sandal occupied a large part of Mrs. Robrock's summer time. Miss Gordon spent her summer doing graduate work at George Washington University in Virginia. Mrs. Potter, our new freshman English teacher, is from Logan, Ohio where she formerly taught. Advanced selections in the new literature text books created a more challenging year for both teachers and students.

Math, Science Are "Musts" for Moderns.

Diversified interests occupy the leisure hours of Bryan's science and math instructors. Mr. Webster spent the summer in Kentucky as co-director of a biology workshop for high school students at Morehead College. In addition he serves as president of the National Association of Biology Teachers. Northwest Materials employed the services of Mr. Yoder, now beginning his second year in Bryan. This summer Mr. Hatch lent his able assistance at the recreation park.

Construction work occupied the daylight hours of Mr. Winters' summer while his stamp and coin collection provided relaxation. The city of Tiffin, Ohio, was the scene of Mr. Morton's early summer marriage to Mara Smitchens. He was recently elected to Phi Delta Kappa at Ohio State University where he is working toward his Masters Degree. Mr. Husted, a talented pianist and organist, spent his vacation touring from Nova Scotia to Wyoming.

Farm, Home, Shop and Office Need Skill

PLAYING HOUSE teaches freshman Tina Rhoades and Bev Blaisdell about room arrangement under Miss Puhl's direction.

Although they teach dissimilar subjects, our vocational instructors have many common interests. Golf is a favorite recreation with Mrs. Meyer, Mr. Knecht, and Mr. Koehler. Mrs. Meyer is also interested in choir and bowling, as is Mrs. Shockley, a reading and sewing enthusiast. Hunting, fishing, and cabinet making are other activities which Mr. Knecht enjoys, while travel, sports and photography fill Mr. Koehler's after-school hours. Mr. Cayton gives much time to his duties as director of the Bowling Green University Bryan Branch, in which sixty students were enrolled.

THOMAS D. SAUPPE

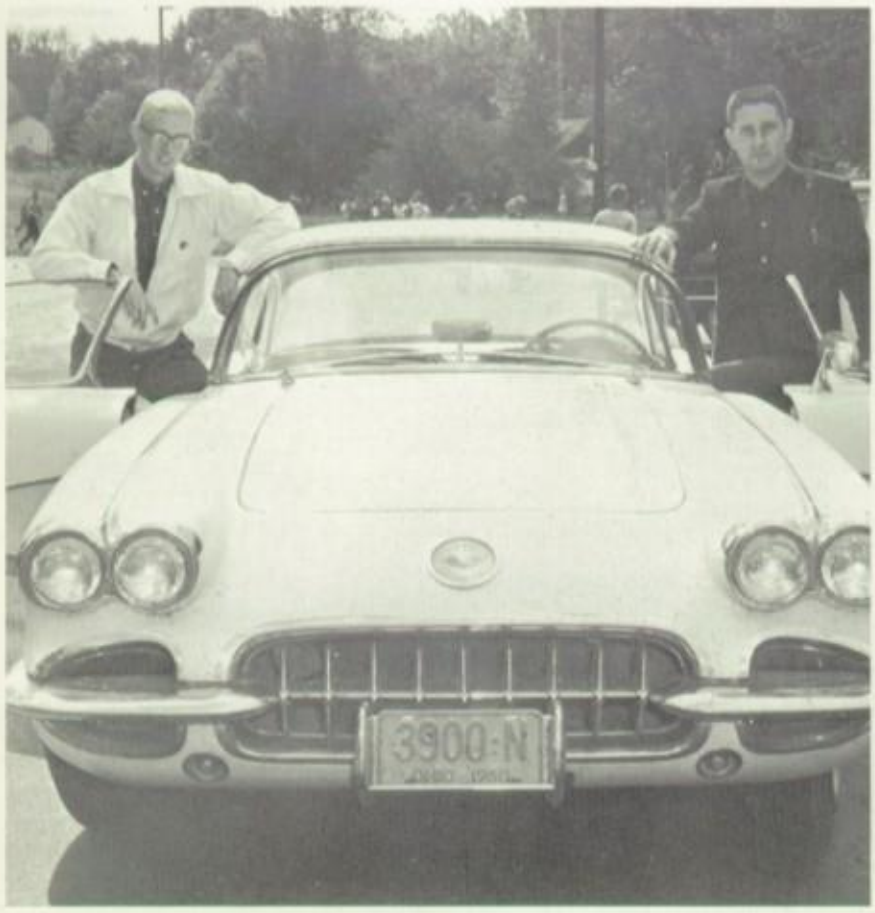
SPORT CAR FANS such as Dale Heyman and Mr. Sauppe find the little Corvette irresistible.



Our music department's two busy conductors, Mr. Dally and Mr. Hartman, travel widely to various music contests and conventions and spend the summer building students' technique. Mr. Dally, now in his tenth year in Bryan, is the treasurer of the National School Orchestra Association and attended their convention at Fishcreek, Wisconsin. Mr. Hartman takes an active interest in politics. A white streak that passed by might be Mr. Sauppe in his snappy white Corvette, which he recently drove to Mexico. Mr. Ebersole spent summer teaching driver training and painting his house while Mr. Sumpter supervised the recreation program in the Bryan Parks. Miss Maneval, and avid University of Michigan fan, is also a theater enthusiast and went to New York City to see some live Broadway plays.

Our Health Is Their Concern

GRACE CARR, DIETITIAN

Mrs. Grace Carr and her competent assistants, Mrs. Beulah McGlenen at Washington, Mrs. Ann Ensign at Lincoln, and Mrs. Lucy Struble at the High school, plan our delicious "type A" lunches. In addition Mrs. Carr is in charge of the GAA, Y-Teens, Latin Club, Junior-Senior, and other banquets throughout the county. She also serves as the Northwest District Regional Director of the Ohio Food Service.

During her busy day Mrs. Helen Settles, Bryan's City Nurse, visits Washington and Lincoln Elementary Schools, the Junior High, and the Senior High. The fifth grade physicals, the T.B. patch tests, and the dental clinic are under her able supervision. She is an active member of the Women's Federation. Western Pennsylvania Hospital is her alma mater.

Custodians, Drivers Give Skillful Care

Head of our maintenance staff, Delber Long has spent twenty years keeping Bryan school buildings and equipment in top condition. His staff consists of Ralph Perry, "Skip" Krill, Mrs. Charlotte Weaver, and Mrs. Kathryn McFadden. Our bus drivers represent many years of experience in their service to the school.

Council Has Financial Success

From the first day of school when the Student Council members acted as guides, they continually strove to promote the best interests of the school. They arranged the Kick-Off dance and Homecoming activities, supervised class elections, held an open meeting in the gym, secured and sponsored assemblies, planned the Christmas program, and financed the state scholarship tests. In addition the Student Council carried out two major projects: complete revision and reorganization of the National Honor Society and the revamping of their own constitution.

With the advice of Mr. Newell the fourteen enthusiastic members sold concessions each noon and during the tournament season. With the profits from these and those produced by their ever-faithful popcorn machine the council financed all projects given them.

Scholastic Achievement Rates High

Membership in the National Honor Society, formerly dependent on a 3.0 point or B average, was the subject of considerable discussion this year. The Student Council and the faculty collected information on practices in other schools and made recommendations for consideration by the administration and the Board of Education. It was decided to revise the scholastic requirement upward to 3.2 for seven semesters. At the time of publication, requirements for juniors had not been adopted.

Annual Staff Creates Lasting Record

Monday nights became memorable occasions for the yearbook editorial staff. Fortified with potato chips and Pepsi, and the summer's experiences at the N.S.P.A. convention in Chicago, those members working on each deadline met at the country home of their sponsor, Mrs. Mabel Robrock. They were further prepared for their work by a visit to the American Yearbook plant and the editors' course at Michigan State University.

Under contract for 900 yearbooks, the staff sold the personalized copies at four dollars each before Christmas. Later orders were filled at four-fifty each.

The ambitious business staff sponsored the traditional Christmas dance, collected tax stamps, filled the patron page with the names of those businessmen who contributed to the success of the book, and managed the coat check for the basketball games. Of course there were the ever-present pencil salesmen, eager to sell anyone a sport schedule pencil for only a nickel. New projects this year were the sponsorship of noon movies, and the sale of plastic book covers.

Hi-Life Reports News and Views

Directed by their adviser, Mrs. Rollins, the Hi-Life staff worked to improve the school newspaper. Published every other week, Hi-Life always contained the latest news and views of life at B.H.S.

The editor and several members of the staff traveled to Indiana University, and six members attended Ohio University during the summer, where they took courses in journalism.

The business staff, headed by Lynnette Burkholder, converted its former ads to a patrons list, thus providing the editorial staff with more space. Subscriptions were sold at $2.50 for the year. Editor Barbara Spangler frequently traveled to Montpelier where Hi-Life was printed by the Leader-Enterprise.

In addition to their journalism, the staff constantly sought ways to enliven student life. They conducted a mock election, announcing the result (Nixon-Lodge) in a special issue. They sponsored a Frankenstein Fling as a Halloween dance, and a snake dance before the Swanton football game. To improve still further our school spirit, they circulated signs throughout the school before games.

RIGHT: CHARITY BEGINS AT BHS as Marcia Robinson and Emily Vannorsdall pack canned goods for needy families. Students who attended the combined Y-Teen — Mask and Sandal — Hi-Y Christmas party brought the gifts.

Worthwhile projects occupied the one hundred-ten Y-Teeners as they met twice a month with their advisers, Mrs. Meyer, Miss Gordon, and in the second semester Mrs. Baltosser.

They prepared Thanksgiving baskets for needy families and contributed to the Women's Federation at Christmas. They helped with a driver and baby-sitting service on election day, and lost the traditional hunt to the Hi-Y boys in a record nine minutes. In the spring the girls prepared Easter baskets for hospital patients. Several girls attended Y-Teen summer camp and two delegates took the annual United Nations Tour. As a climax of the year, the club entertained their mothers at a banquet after which the coveted Claire Newcomer award for an outstanding junior girl was presented.

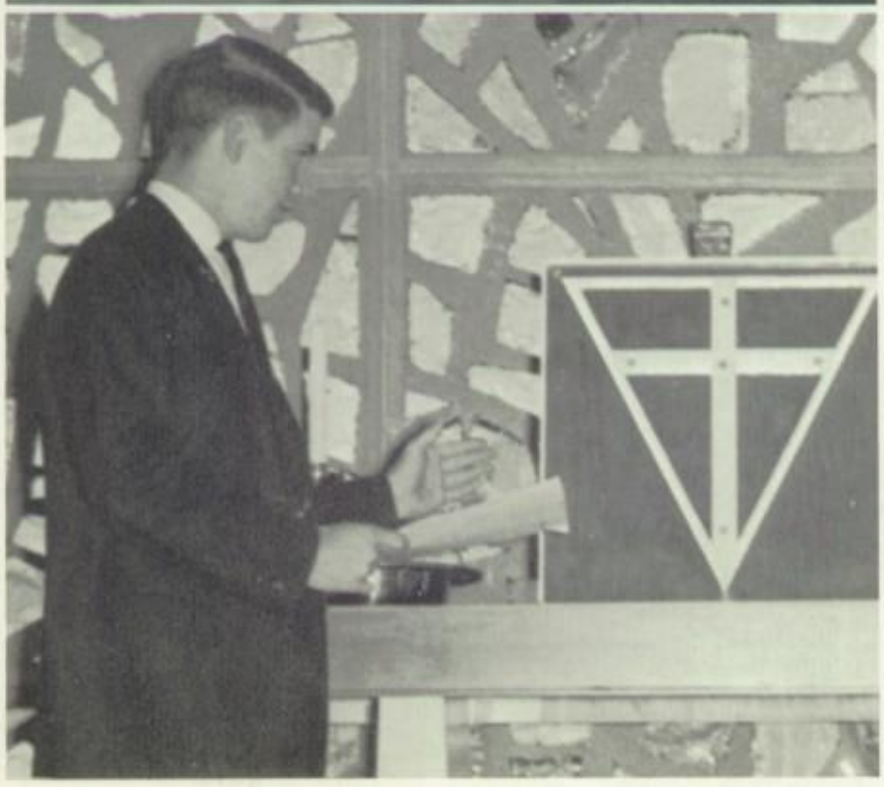
Hi-Y Club Promotes Goodwill



At the annual induction service held in the Winzeler Memorial Chapel of the new Presbyterian Church in October, twenty-five new members joined Hi-Y, bringing the membership to sixty-seven. The boys enjoyed the joint "White Christmas" party and, having defeated the girls in the annual Hi-Y — Y-Teen Hunt, were guests at the "Pay-off" supper in March. Several teams manned trucks to pick up and dispose of Christmas trees, and everyone sold salt-water taffy to help finance activities. Concessions and a contribution from the Community Chest helped to pay National dues and send members to conventions and the Pre-Model Legislature. Delegates to the Model Legislature were Skip King and Larry Curtice.

Those attending the pre-Model Legislature on Saturday, March 4, were Larry Curtice, Skip King, Gerry Ames and Walter Husted.

Kansas City was the site of the National FFA Convention attended by Rodney Short, Roy Rigg, Jim Davis, and adviser Mr. Saunders. The club enjoyed a busy year, having a weiner roast, a hayride with the FHA, and a parents' banquet at which Jeanene Ledyard was crowned queen, and Mrs. Mabel Robrock was made an honorary member. Roger Geiselman and Roy Rigg won dairy and corn awards. The boys sold seeds and candy and had game concessions to provide funds. Mr. Saunders says that although few FFA boys will go into farming, he advises further agricultural studies because of the many related occupational fields.

Working toward Junior, Chapter, and State Homemaker degrees made a busy year for FHA members. Two seniors held positions outside the local club, Jeanene Ledyard serving as the county vice-president and Pat Hitt as a member of the state choir. Pom poms for football games, noon bake sales, and basketball concessions provided an income for the club.

Under the direction of Mrs. Shockley and Miss Puhl, the Mother-Daughter banquet, the annual style show, a memorable Valentine dance, and an "Around the World" Christmas party were highlights of the year. As service projects, the girls served the FFA banquet and delivered Christmas baskets to shut-ins.

F.T.A. Is Bigger Than Ever

After the annual picnic for new members at Mrs. Robrock's home, the FTA began a year of serious activity. Enrollment was the highest it ever has been with 161 members. With their advisers, Mr. Johnson and Mr. Webster, many members went to the Northwest Ohio Teachers Meeting in Toledo and heard speakers and panels discuss the problems and changes in education. Karen Engstrom headed a group that participated in the state convention at the Ohio State Youth Center. A panel from Ohio Northern University, which was affiliated with the Ohio Student Education Program, talked to the local chapter and Mr. Wagner spoke on his experiences in teaching. On visitation day senior members spent a day observing grade school classes. Here they saw a complete day's schedule in practice, the students' reaction to different teaching methods, and the appearance of the classroom. The club's finances were increased by the selling of combs, decals and pennants. The Walter Robrock Memorial Scholarship of seventy-five dollars went to Janet Knecht for study at Otterbein College. The Christmas party with a gift exchange and the spring outing at Pokagon completed the year's social activities.

Clubs Enrich Language Study

LATIN CLUB, with a record enrollment of over one hundred, combined a program of fun and learning. Miss Max gave a talk on Tiberius Caesar and the effect of astrology on the lives of the Romans. A film strip depicting life in ancient Rome added to the basic understanding of the members. Christmas carols were sung in Latin, and the Saturnalia, a festival corresponding to our Christmas, was discussed. A play, translated by the second year students, was presented by the freshmen and in March Mrs. Francis Frappier gave a book review. Climaxing the year was the annual Roman banquet held in April and financed by dues and concessions. Authentic food and dress added to the gala occasion. Miss Ruth Max was the adviser.

Highlighting the year's activities was the Christmas party given by Jon Bricker in his home at which the members enjoyed South American food. Bryan's club kept in close contact with the Spanish clubs of Van Wert and Defiance. Several of the second year students wrote to pen pals in Ecuador. In April a display of manuscripts written by Spanish students was presented in the showcase. A fiesta at Easter and noon luncheons through the second semester brightened the year which ended in May with a banquet at which pins of merit were awarded.

Drama Club Presents "Pygmalion"

Beautiful Indiana University was the setting for the National Thespian Conference enthusiastically attended by nineteen Bryan Thespians June 20 through 25. They enjoyed themselves making new friends and learning new skills. Mr. Dierks and the club adviser, Mrs. Robrock, chaperoned the group. The regional conference which was held at Wauseon October 15 was also well supported by Bryan students who presented a one-act play entitled "A Little Learning" and a workshop on club activities.

The major production of the year was Shaw's PYGMALION given on November 18-19. The stage crew created a stylized set, making a new black cyclorama and building outline flats. The play drew many students from surrounding high schools as well as local theater groups. Professor Ronald Willis of Defiance college was a guest consultant assisting Mrs. Robrock with the direction of the play.

The Montpelier Thespian Troupe 1456 was brought to life by the Thespians from Bryan in an initiation ceremony given in a student assembly December 20.

The Christmas play, "Light Competition" was co-directed by Mary Bordner and Betti McNutt and a sophomore group presented "How to Propose" directed by Nancy Fenton. Later, the club entered the district dramatic festival and awarded Oscars for outstanding work. The Oscar winners of 1959-60 were Pete Shindledecker and Janie Hartley (best actors), and Dale Heyman (best technician). Pete and Janie also were named Best Thespians.

Pygmalion

Shaw's superb lines and the fable of the flower girl delighted audiences on November 18 and 19. The play demanded an ambitious production staff, which included the following: Martha Rose, Bruce Raymond, Janet Boynton, Merlin Klotz, Barbara Bard, Kay Kunkel, Ruthann Hillard, Connie Geesey, Beth Newell, Marsha Sutter, Diane Meckstroth, Margaret Bohr, Jamie Sapp, Karen Engstrom, Kent Van Wagner, Betti McNutt, Paulette Edington, Don Galliers, Dean Grove, Larry King, Vicki Biddle, Velvet Brown, and Loa Williamson.

Excess energy was no problem to the 180 GAA members as they carried on sports activities that included basketball, volleyball, bowling at Bryan Lanes, and softball. Miss Maneval was the club adviser.

On a rainy fall night, freshmen were initiated, wearing mismatched clothes and performing stunts to amuse the upperclassmen. Meetings were held once a month, with the showing of the full-length movie "Sayonara" as a special treat.

To finance the Honor Night banquet and dance, the girls sold GAA jackets and pajama bags, and sponsored a record hop after the Montpelier basketball game. As a service project they sold forget-me-nots for the D.A.V.

Plans for the traditional dance on April 7 began early, with decorations built around a medieval theme. At the banquet, Miss Maneval presented awards based on the point system, and Mr. Rogge announced the election of Honor Girl and Maid of Honor.

With eight coaches as honorary advisers, the Varsity "B" Club had a considerable amount of guidance and leadership. Mainly an honorary organization, the membership was restricted to those athletes who had earned a varsity letter in one or more major sports. Their meetings, which were held the first Wednesday of each month, constituted organized business as well as entertainment. Their membership of approximately fifty husky and ambitious lettermen tackled various money-making projects, including the sale of programs at games, decals and hats. They continued their yearly projects of keeping scrap-book records of each sport and the purchase of letter, pin, and buckle awards for achievement. The All-Sports banquet in the spring was the biggest event of the Varsity "B" calendar, providing an occasion where all athletes received recognition for their achievements. Mr. Hatch, head football coach, and Mr. Sumpter, head basketball coach, were the official advisers.

Meeting each Thursday with Mr. Morton, the photographers worked long hours in the school dark room and at Mrs. Robrock's home to produce hundreds of pictures for Hi-Life and ZETA CORDIA. The group included two from Junior High, and anyone who became interested could begin at any time. The school publications set up a point system this year for awards to be given those whose work was frequently published. An electronic flash unit purchased by the 1960 ZETA CORDIA staff improved sports pictures considerably. A pizza supper at Mrs. Robrock's provided a relief from enlarger squint and developer stains.

Mr. Johnson's efficient Visual Aids organization provided a trained projectionist available for the movie room each period. In addition to the many excellent classroom films shown throughout the year, the noon movie season included such headliners as NORTHWEST PASSAGE, A TALE OF TWO CITIES, APRIL LOVE, THE ROBE, THE SPIRIT OF ST. LOUIS, THE STORY OF LOUIS PASTEUR, HELEN OF TROY, DARBY'S RANGERS and many others.

Eligibility to wear Y-Teens' Claire Newcomer pin is an honor in itself. Requirements are a "B" average in scholarship, participation in either music or dramatics, election to some office, and membership in Y-Teens. This year Carol Luderman was chosen by the club to wear the pin, which Linda Ames, 1960 winner, presented to her at the annual Mother-Daughter banquet.

Petite and pretty Linda Johnston won the acclaim of the 1961 Track team. Linda awarded the laurels to Bryan's cindermen at the League track meet.

Remember When?

A taste of Parisian night life gave spice to the 1960 Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom. Foods were French from the crepes suzettes to the pastries, prepared by Mrs. Carr and the cafeteria staff, and served in a sidewalk cafe. Toastmaster Jim Cayton, speaker Cecil Goldsmith, and the junior ensembles entertained the guests, who danced later to the music of Jack Spratt and his band. Post-Prom activities were sponsored by the parents of juniors and included a French movie and a breakfast dance.

GAA's Honor Night on April 1, 1960, was a page from the Cinderella story. Glass slippers adorned the banquet tables, and the gym was a rosegarden dream. Mrs. Richard DeGroff was the banquet speaker, while Court Musicians were Robert Hadley's Notesmen, who left promptly at twelve before the spell could be broken.

A Band Has Style and Spirit

Under the direction of Mr. Hartman and led by Janet Boynton, the 1960 edition of the marching band presented half-time shows and helped boost school spirit at nine football games and pep meetings throughout the year. Included among their activities were the Firemen's Convention where they won first place among forty-two other bands, the Bryan Jubilee parade, a two-hour performance at the Williams County Fair, and the Halloween, Christmas and Memorial Day parades.

The concert band, somewhat larger, presented two concerts, both of which were well received. In preparing for the contest at Bowling Green, the band was cut down to sixty pieces. The required number was "Builders of Youth Overture" and the selected number was the first movement of Gliere's Symphony Number 3. A warm-up number was also included in the rating.

A highlight of the year was the band party held on November 29. Band members and their parents enjoyed dinner together, followed by a show put on by the seniors, and dancing. By this entertainment the band hoped to show their appreciation for the parents who had taken charge of concessions and assisted with the care and distribution of uniforms.

Dance Band

Majorettes

With a fanfare of trumpets, Janet Boynton, Bryan's senior Drum Majorette, stepped out to lead the band in many memorable performances. Proud possessor of scores of twirling competition awards, Janet devoted hours of hard work to polishing the majorettes' routines and to give Bryan's band outstanding dash and pep. Her performance with the fire baton provided a spectacular finish to the half-time football shows. By giving lessons to many younger girls, she contributed to the successful future of the Majorette corps.

The perky octette of Majorettes combined twirling routines with drills and dance steps. A popular feature was a Spanish dance done in dazzling costumes by Janet Boynton, Shelly Gorny and Lynnette Burkholder. Lynnette and Sharon Ebaugh prepared a duet number for Homecoming.

From the summer parades to the arrival of Santa Claus the Majorettes added sparkle and life to every band appearance. Their year ended with a flourish at the Panorama of Music.

Orchestra Observes

After receiving its first superior rating in the state-wide orchestra competition in February of 1960, the Bryan High School Senior Orchestra began the season determined to maintain its record. Always in demand for concerts and entertainment, the 58 members under their tireless director, Orville Dally, faced the year with nine important events on their calendar.

The full orchestra performed for Governor DiSalle when he visited Bryan, and on November 18 and 19 presented a medley from "My Fair Lady" for the Mask and Sandal play, "Pygmalion." The annual Christmas program highlighted the winter's activities and featured the separate sections of the orchestra in a series of carols. In February, the orchestra traveled to Oberlin and participated in the state orchestra competition. For the midwinter concert Shelly Guertin of Cleveland played

The Panorama of Music climaxed the musical year and was scheduled for two nights since it had been so well received in past years. Clif Fenton presented Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" which was a great challenge for both soloist and orchestra.

Baccalaureate and Commencement completed school musical activities for the orchestra. Trinka Hester, president, David Thomas, vice-president, Penny Graham, secretary, and Nancy Fenton, treasurer, planned decorations and social activities.

A Cappella Sings

Bryan can be proud of its eighty-seven member High School A Cappella. Under the direction of Orville Dally, and accompanied by Sarah Huard, a student of the celebrated Rudolf Ganz, and also by Bunny Andres, the group found many opportunities to apear before the public.

Besides performing for the traditional Christmas Concert on December 18, the choir sang at the community Thanksgiving service, did several numbers in the popular Panorama of Music, worked very hard on a difficult song for district contest, and made Baccalaureate and Commencement more impressive with their music.

Golden Voices and Glamour

Each year the three girls' ensembles enjoy singing at various club and social meetings under the direction of Mrs. Orville Dally, pictured below. This year the seniors (Tender-tones) made their debut in new brown and white dresses at the Williams County Fair. The juniors (Breezettes) wore dressy prints with bubble skirts, while the sophomores appeared in blue and white checked dresses with dark blue cumberbunds.

At Christmas the three ensembles combined to present "Petite Noel," a short religious operetta depicting the Christmas story.

Work Toward Future Excellence

Taking a cue from the Japanese method of beginning music training early, Mr. Dally starts his string students in summer classes for third and fourth graders. In grades seven through ten, Junior Orchestra and Chorus continue their apprenticeship. This year's 148-member chorus assisted with the annual Christmas program and spring Panorama. Many fine pianists trained as accompanists for the repertoire, which included "Min Skol, Din Skol," "How Far Is It to Bethlehem?" and "My Shepherd Will Supply My Need."

The Junior Orhestra enjoyed playing such numbers as "Freddie and His Fiddle," "Winston Hoedown," "Strange Music," and "I'll See You Again." They presented their own concert on April 16, with special selections by the string ensemble.

Golden Bears Win Four at Home

With twelve lettermen as the nucleus of Coach Hatch's squad, preseason hopes were high. However, League competition proved formidable, and the Bears finished with five wins and four losses.

Every member of the team was a credit to Bryan, but several deserved special recognition. Larry Wright, Bryan's biggest Bear, rated the center spot on the All-League first team and linebacker on the second. Lynn Robinson, fightin' fullback, was high scorer, rushing over 1500 yards in nine games. He was chosen offensive fullback on the All-League second team, while Trausch was named offensive tackle. Other key players were Payne at offensive half and Salsbury at defensive half.

In the season opener, fans saw Bryan defeat Van Wert for the fourth time since 1919. In the Delta game the entire backfield shared in Bryan's 30 points. After a costly fumble assisted Wauseon, the Bears astounded the Homecoming crowd with Robinson's 79-yard run. Archbold, new to the League, dropped the next game to Bryan's fleet backfield, Brannan leading the pack with a 70-yard run. Even more spectacular was Robinson's 80-yard dash against Montpelier. Swanton gave the HATCHet men their largest scoring margin, but League-leading Napoleon handed us our most decisive defeat via Druhot's brilliant attack. In the final contest, Liberty captialized on several Bryan fumbles, coming from behind in the last quarter.

With four victories on the home gridiron and student spirit behind them all the way, the Bears had a better than "break-even" season.

Scoring three times in their four games, the teams' most spectacular moment was Mike DeGroff's 65-yard pass play to Dieter Bassing in the Napoleon game. Denny Weaver struck pay dirt after a 50-yard run against Edon, while Lyle Moog ran 60 yards for a TD at Wauseon. Freshman cheerleaders and faithful parents followed the team who worked hard and learned much about football fundamentals.

Seven wins and eleven losses is not in itself an outstanding record, but a look at the books will show that in total points Bryan outscored their opponents by 28 points. The games won were by a 2 or 1 point difference. Coaches Sumpter and Yoder and their team have much to be proud of!

Stellar performances were turned in by Mert Trausch, 6-foot-4-inch center who was captain of the team, and Bob Borckardt, a fine fast forward. Bob was our leading scorer with 90 field goals, hitting 44 per cent of his shots. Add to this his 32 steals and you have an outstanding record. Merlin was the high man on the backboards, taking 162 offensive and defensive rebounds. He was also the second high scorer with 61 buckets. Chuck Elser had the second ranking percentage with 43 per cent, with the team as a whole hitting 37 per cent. Bob Moon was high with 47 assists. The efficiency of the team was greatly enhanced by seniors Curtice, Kyser and Houver. Younger teammates, Lowell Trausch and Denny Stombaugh, are expected to supply height for next year's team, while Joe Imm should continue fast defensive work.

Bryan Rates Third; Reserves Post 13—3

In spite of several disappointing scores, the season was highlighted by exciting close games. At Defiance the Bears rallied in the closing seconds to tally a victory. They played exceptionally good ball at Lima, holding that powerful quintet to a six-point margin. In the first game against Napoleon two points lay between Bryan and victory, but the Bears won the second contest by 8. Bob Moon sparked the team to a crushing win over his old Alma Mater Fairview. The final season game against Wauseon was dropped by one point. When Napoleon was drawn as our opponent for the sectional tournament, hopes were high, spirit was good and the game was close. At the final buzzer, the score was 54—54. Napoleon scored in the three-minute overtime, and then concentrated successfully on keeping Bryan from shooting. In the last two years Bryan has played Napoleon five times. Three of these games have gone into overtime and each time Bryan lost.

Bob Borckardt was named on the All-League second team while Merlin Trausch and Chuck Elser received honorable mention.

RESERVES

The excellent Reserve record, 13—3, promises well for the future. Lowell Trausch, lanky brother of this year's Varsity captain, led the team in scoring with Dean Grove and Roy Rigg close behind. Percentagewise Lee Mack and Joe Imm were best with the buckets. Playmaker was Chris Gotshall with speedy floor work by Mike Hoffman and Rolland Taylor all responsible for the team's success.

Intramurals — Any Number Can Play

Sport for the fun of it is the aim of boys' intramurals. The chief activity is basketball, played at noon and organized first into voluntary teams and later into homeroom competition. Volleyball, shuffleboard, ping-pong, are also available for noon participation with tournaments being held when there is sufficient interest. Intramurals give many boys an opportunity to try officiating. Coach Hatch supervises the mid-day activities.

Girls' intramurals are sponsored by GAA and supervised by Miss Maneval. Volleyball, basketball, bowling, and softball are scheduled for after-school participation. GAA points may also be earned by such leisure time pursuits as badminton, tennis and hiking. The girls use the Central Building gymnasium while the high school gym is in use by the varsity boys' teams.

Dancing, which was formerly a noon activity, was dropped this year.

Cindermen Show Skill in Jumping Events

The Bryan High School cindermen in their first season under the direction of Coach Hatch turned in a creditable record of four wins and two losses. They were overcome only by the very powerful teams from Napoleon and Lima.

Dale Huffman, a leading hurdler, out-scored the rest of the team with a total of 64 points. Next was sprinter Dave Huntley with 52½; Steve Gilbert, who set a new school record of 21.5 seconds in the 180 yard low hurdles, followed with 45¼. Other key scorers in the Bears' attack were Robinnon, 37; Black, 26¼; Wiley, 23¼; and Brewer with 21 points. Bryan was again host to the night relays, but failed to take first place.

Bears Take Fourth Straight Championship

Bryan's dependable batsmen claimed their fourth trophy in a row as Coach Ray Sumpter, aided by Paul Yoder, led the team through an unbeaten League season. Showing superior slugging power in every contest, they brought their consecutive League wins to an amazing 24.

Rated for efficiency by a point system, each player worked to improve his record. Dariel Young led the ratings, with Bob Brannan scoring second.

Batting averages were unusually high, even judged by Bryan's past performances. Gym workouts with the pitching machine helped produce spectacular results, with nine players averaging above .300. Tom Voigt's .515 came close to Ron Phipps' ('59) .535 record. Bob Brannan was second with .475. Sophomore Dave Howey followed with .469. Dariel Young averaged .459; Larry Hanna .429; Len Johnson .375; Bill Isaac .364; Steve Brannan .333; and Larry Curtice .315.

Tournament hopes faded in our first contest as Fairview overcame several of Bryan's scoring threats with superior fielding.

Dariel Young, Bryan's senior catcher, led the team with 19 runs batted in and was second in total hits. He was selected for the second year to play in the Ohio High School All-Star baseball series in Columbus, July 16-17.

Low scores and high points added up to a League championship for Bryan's golfers, directed by Coach Dudley Ebersole. Sparked by the consistently good play of Bob Lowe, the team won six and lost three meets. Unable to defeat Napoleon in either of the dual meets, Bryan topped them in both the League meet and the Montpelier Invitational, and became the first team to break 500 in this event. Bill Galliers was low man at Montpelier with a score of 74.

Bob Lowe was medalist in seven of the nine meets. In the state tournament he placed a very respectable sixth in the 16-to-19 age division out of 72 boys entered.

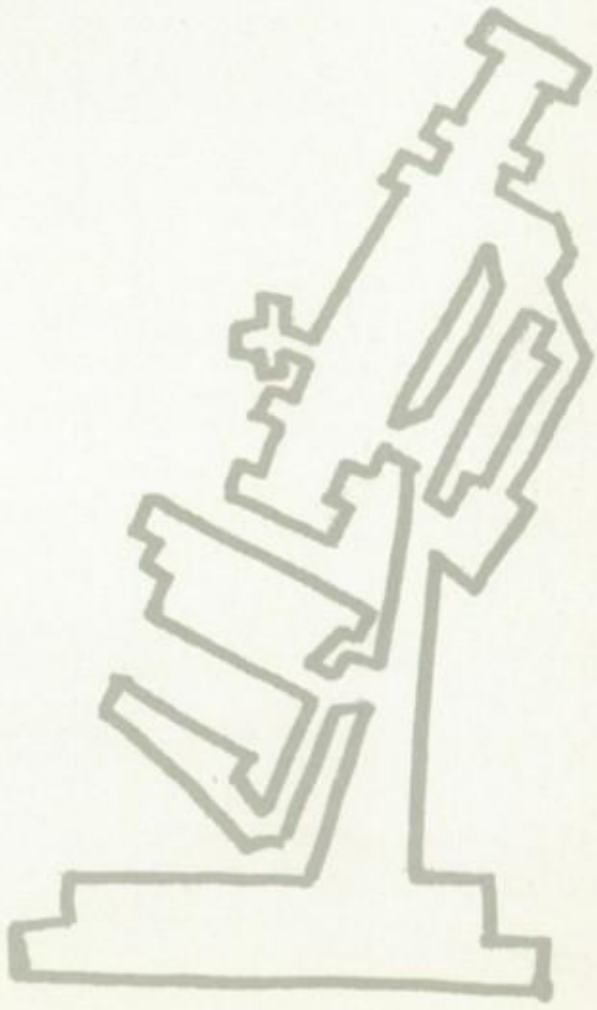
JUNIOR HIGH



FROM YO-YO TO BASEBALL, eighth grade officers like lots of activity. David Donaldson, reporter; Terry Meyer, treasurer; Linda Emme, secretary; Tom Huard, president; Mickey Ringer, vice-president.

Eighth Grade

Near the end of junior high, the eighth graders looked forward to high school while enjoying the prestige of being the oldest class in Central Building and the largest class in all of Bryan schools. Changing classes every period was a new experience for them, and they took a keen interest in entering various science fairs. The holiday season brought a change of pace as they participated in their own assemblies. In the spring all social life centered around the junior-high dance, as the eighth grade played host to the seventh grade and the parents. Also in the spring the students prepared for the eighth grade state test which climaxed the academic year. With this background of social and scholastic activities, the eighth graders ended their year with high school registration.

THE KENNEDY-NIXON DEBATES HAD THEIR COUNTERPART in Miss Wharton's English classes during the hot election campaign. Here Mike Collins persuades while Marjorie Missler and Charles Murray back him up.

THE LINE-UP: Lingvai, Favourite, and Robarge wait their turn to check out with Jamie Sapp at the money end of the lunch counter.

WITH BOTH SMILES AND UMBRELLAS, the seventh grade officers are well prepared for drizzly days. Todd Dierks, reporter; Tom DeGroff, secretary; Pam Johnston, treasurer; David Ebersole, president; Janet Schlosser, vice-president.

HERE'S HOW: seventh grade boys get their first experience with industrial arts in Mr. Coleman's shop course.

Seventh Grade

Entering the seventh grade, Bryan students found a whole new world confronting them. They began the transition from spending the entire day in one room to an occasional class change each day. Three periods were spent in a daily language arts and social studies core course, and for the first time shop work was available to them. They viewed their second semester science course on TV. For the first time they took part in the selection of officers for the entire class and voted on cheerleaders for the junior-high sports in which they now participated. Junior orchestra and B-band were new fields of enjoyment to be explored. Besides these academic and during-school activities, the seventh grader made his debut as an honored guest of the eighth graders at the spring dance.

Junior High Office Facilities Improved

ROBERT G. HADLEY, PRINCIPAL

Bulging with three hundred eighty-two students, Junior High pursued a steady course toward scholastic excellence under the direction of Principal R. G. Hadley. He has spent six years with us, and was honored by inclusion in the 1959 WHO'S WHO IN AMERICAN EDUCATION. He holds B.S. and M.A. degrees from Youngstown University and Eastern Michigan State respectively, plus an Elementary Diploma from Bowling Green.

He is active in the Lions Club and well-known as a pianist and trumpet player with the "Notesmen." He is a sports fan and likes to restore old cars.

His office was remodeled this summer, being now very attractive with pine paneling. Built-in cupboards and shelves delight the heart of Mrs. Paul Garwood, completing her third year as his secretary and dispenser of TLC (tender, loving care) to youngsters in distress. Custodians Tom Guise and Charles Salsbury often work with high school and other groups using the auditorium. Mrs. Sam Philips is housekeeper for the main part of Central Building.

PLANNING IS PLEASANTER in the newly remodeled office. Tom Guise, Charles Salsbury, Avis Phillips, and secretary Ruth Garwood take note of Mr. Hadley's instructions.

Heading the list of all Bryan teachers in terms of years of service is Junior High's Miss Leah Barstow, having taught forty-six years in Bryan City Schools. ZETA CORDIA is happy to congratulate her and to voice the hope that the rewards of her unselfish effort in teaching science and geography have been rich and satisfying. She is an active member of Delta Kappa Gamma, the P.T.O. and the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Mr. Ford, now in his third year in Bryan, makes an avocation of his science. Mr. Thomas enjoys reading and farming, while Mr. Stockman likes reading and outdoor sports. Mrs. Ward finds entertainment in bridge and golf. Mr. Wulff, spending his second year with us, is a competent press photographer. With Mr. Hadley he also sponsored the "History Hounds" an organization of twenty-four eighth graders who affiliated with the Buckeyes and met once a month.

ORVILLE THOMAS

Hold Offices in Teachers' Group

With Mr. Dierks as president, Mrs. Ward as secretary and Mr. Wulff as treasurer, the Junior High faculty does its share for the Bryan Teachers' Association. Mr. Dierks, a drama enthusiast, also chaperoned Thespians at Indiana U. in June and directed the senior play. Mr. Neefe, a West Unity resident, and Mr. Coleman are new to Bryan this year, while Mrs. Clarke the former Miss Lois Rubel, is new in name only. Miss Wharton assists at the Public Library, while Mrs. Shaffer devotes her spare time to her country home and family. Mr. Lewis this year finds himself one of those whose wives also teach in Bryan.

PAUL DIERKS
Language arts and geography; seventh grade adviser. B.S. in Ed. Bowling Green State University.

LOIS CLARKE
Language arts and geography; seventh grade adviser. B.S. in ED. Bowling Green State University.

This Was the Year — for Surprises

Anything could happen, it seemed, in 1960 and the upside-down year 1961 — and much of it did. Young John Kennedy squeezed through the White House door. Civil War Centennial observances vied for news space with segregation violence. "Darkest" Africa blazed with conflict, and suddenly the names of Lumumba, Kasvubu, Tchombe and Mobutu flared in headlines. Dag Hammerskjold and the UN now with seventeen new nations, struggled to control chaos and bloodshed, while Khrushchev pounded on tables, Castro confiscated U.S. holdings in Cuba, and Adolf Eichmann went on trial in Israel for World War II crimes against the Jews. West Berlin, Laos, and Red China were trouble spots. The Summit conference toppled as American Airman Powers was shot down over Russia. U.S. population jumped to 180 million, while inventories piled up and unemployment leaped to more than five and a half million. On the high seas a crew of revolutionaries seized a Portugese liner in true buccaneering tradition.

Even science added to the tension that wound the world in a giant gripping web. The sinister struggle among the great nations to be daringest and deadliest continued. Polaris missiles were fired from atomic submarines underwater, and the U.S. Echo I satellite relayed radio messages. The U.S. was first to recover payloads from rockets, and an affable chimp named Ham made the first man-like trip into outer space and back. The hydroboil gave promise of a revolution in seatravel.

In Bryan, R. J. Christman was mayor of 7,631 people. Polly Brownwell reigned as Jubilee Queen, and the City Band celebrated its 109th anniversary, directed by Dale Connin. Downtown businesses shifted locations, and Lynn Run and the underpass were still controversial issues. Our own Lem and Min Pasch went venturing around the world.

Death robbed us of Dr. Tom Dooley, Oscar Hammerstein II, Emily Post and Clark Gable. In Bryan the passing of Mrs. Ruth Markey was followed by contributions to a Memorial Children's Library.

Russia, the U.S. and Germany rated win, place and show in the Olympics held in Rome. Floyd Patterson easily recovered his heavy-weight title from Johanssen, and the Pittsburg Pirates scuttled the Yankee clipper for the World Series pennant. Washington upset Minnesota in the Rose Bowl, 17—7; and OSU boasted the best basketball team with Jerry Lucas as Player of the Year.

SWISS FAMILY ROBINSON, produced by true Disney genius followed BEN HUR as a great picture, while WHERE THE BOYS ARE was a light-hearted favorite. The tragedy of EXODUS in book, film and music aroused controversy, as did problems of censorship. TV still relied on gunmen and private "eyes," though variety improved and great documentaries were produced.

Seniors this year were more serious than ever about getting specialized training in preparation for an age of automation. Adventures in unselfishness lay before them as the Hope Ship was launched and the Peace Corps was initiated. The challenge of the times was expressed by President Kennedy in his inaugural address: "And so, my fellow Americans, ask not what your country will do for you — ask what you can do for your country."
